Contact is published monthly for KMOS PBS members and viewers. We work to ensure accuracy at press time, but last minute changes are sometimes unavoidable. We welcome your comments, questions and suggestions.

When people say they love public media, they often mean how accessible it feels. Turn on the TV, and there it is, trusted news, children's programming, documentaries, and stories that reflect our community. But while public media is free to watch, it isn't free to create or sustain. Public media isn't free; it's public.

At its heart, public broadcasting exists to serve everyone. That means programming driven by education, curiosity, and community value rather than ratings or advertising. To make that possible, stations like KMOS PBS rely on a shared investment from the people we serve.

Behind our programming is a fully functional television studio. Cameras, lighting, sound equipment, editing systems, control rooms, and digital infrastructure all require constant upkeep and periodic replacement. Skilled engineers, producers, and educators work every day to ensure programming is accurate, accessible, and reliable. Add to that the technical demands of broadcasting, transmitters, towers, power systems, and backup equipment, all necessary to deliver a clear signal across central Missouri, every day, in every season.

As a PBS member station, KMOS PBS also pays annual dues to PBS for access to national programming. These dues help fund the creation of the programs viewers trust and love, from children's educational content to in-depth documentaries and cultural series. Membership in PBS connects us to a national network, but it comes with real, ongoing costs.

What keeps public media accessible to all is community investment. When viewers support KMOS PBS, they ensure that education, trusted information, and local storytelling remain accessible to everyone, regardless of their income or background.

Our Chief Engineer, Andy Avery, maintaining the wires at our tower.

Public media belongs to the public. And when the community invests together, it stays strong, independent, and open to all.

King of Them All: The Story of King Records

February 20 at 9:30 p.m.

Founded in 1943 by Syd Nathan, King Records reshaped the American musical landscape by recording country, rhythm & blues, and rock 'n' roll under one roof—at a time when the music industry, and the nation itself, was divided by race and genre. The label launched the careers of legendary artists, including James Brown, Wynonie Harris, Hank Ballard, Little Willie John, The Stanley Brothers, and countless others whose influence can still be heard today.

Blending rare archival footage, newly colorized film reels, hand-drawn 1950s-style animation, and exclusive interviews with musicians, historians, and industry veterans, King of Them All is both a love letter to Cincinnati and a testament to King Records' outsized role in shaping global popular music.

Director and Producer Yemi Oyediran said, "This film is about giving long-overdue recognition to the visionaries who changed American culture from right here in Cincinnati, and it has been an honor to bring their voices and legacies to the screen through the PBS platform."

The film underscores the Midwest's central role in American music history and features commentary from Vince Gill, Christian McBride, Seymour Stein, Tammy Kernodle, Alan Leeds, Clyde Brown, Daru Jones, John Curley, and others, alongside newly unearthed perspectives from the families of King Records' artists and staff.

NATURE | Parenthood

Mondays at noon on Emerge 6.3

Animal parents are just like us – they are fiercely protective of their young, raising them against all odds in a variety of environments. Witness amazing stories of dedication and sacrifice as animal parents embark on the greatest of all challenges.

Filmed over 3 years, on 6 continents, and in 23 countries, this five-part series, narrated by Sir David Attenborough, tells the stories of astonishing animal behaviors shaped by the environments they inhabit. Each habitat has its own unique challenges, but as the world changes rapidly around them, some parents have to adapt to a world shaped by humans. The stakes couldn't be higher – success for all parents ensures the future of life on our planet.

“Parenthood is an extraordinary celebration of one of life’s great challenges: raising young,” said producer Jeff Wilson. “Working with the world’s best wildlife cinematographers and nature experts, we uncovered a huge number of fascinating and untold behaviors through incredible field craft and dedication. In an uncertain world, there are lessons to be learned from our animal characters that will resonate with all of us.”

Sun Ra: Do the Impossible

Friday, February 20 at 8 p.m.

On Thursday, February 20 at 8 pm, KMOS PBS airs American Masters #3707: Sun Ra: Do the Impossible, a powerful portrait of one of America's most visionary artists. Born in Birmingham, Alabama, Sun Ra was a jazz composer, bandleader, poet, and Afrofuturist thinker who challenged musical, cultural, and spiritual boundaries. The film traces his journey from the Jim Crow South to international stages, blending rare archival footage, electrifying performances, and reflections from members of the Sun Ra Arkestra and contemporary artists. More than a biography, this documentary explores Sun Ra's radical ideas about freedom, identity, and imagination, and how his music offered a blueprint for possibility in an unequal world. Tune in for an unforgettable American Masters presentation that celebrates creativity, courage, and the enduring power of doing the impossible.

KMOS is updating its current membership levels from $5 per month to $8 per month. This will ensure that KMOS is able to bring you all the member benefits you currently receive including our program guide "Contact" and KMOS Passport, an online library of thousands of hours of PBS programming right at your fingertips. There is nothing you need to do on your part. When your annual membership renews, we will make the change automatically, guaranteeing that your membership continues uninterrupted. If you currently give more than $8 per month or $96 per year, you will see no change in your membership level. If you have any questions, please email us at membership@kmos.org or call us at 1-800-753-3436. Thank you for your continued support of KMOS PBS. Your support ensures PBS stays strong in central Missouri. Thank you.
