BIG BEN RESTORED: THE BIG UNVEILING

PREMIERE JULY 6 AT 7 P.M.

Presiding over the House of Commons, Big Ben is not only the most iconic landmark on London's skyline but a timeless piece of architecture that symbolizes England's democratic heritage. This special provides rare access and insight to the restoration work that took place on the iconic clock tower.

Renamed Elizabeth Tower in 2012, this location is a world-renowned selfie spot with very few people allowed to see inside the world's most famous clock tower, apart from VIPs like Michelle Obama, Prince William and Bill Gates.

The restoration project, which took place over the course of six years beginning in 2016, is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to explore the social and cultural history that the world's most famous clock tower represents, while charting the extraordinary craftsmanship of the people painstakingly bringing this grand monument back to life for future generations.

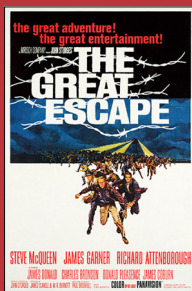

Anna Key (right), Director of Landmark Trust, goes behind-the-scenes with Parliament's principal architect and the three clock-makers who had the challenging task of taking the gigantic mechanism apart for the first time in nearly 160 years. The program also examines the history of the clock tower and reveals how it was almost never built in the first place!

Using innovative filming techniques, the film delves into the rich history of Elizabeth Tower and reveals how a dedicated team of architects, engineers, clock makers, stonemasons, scaffolders and other craftspersons brought an iconic Victorian structure expertly and imaginatively into the 21st century. Follow all those involved in this painstaking work: parliamentarian clock workers that ensured the clock was dismantled and assembled back correctly; the construction workers who took extra care to preserve and restore components; and the scientists and metal workers who discovered the true color of the clock dials and cast replacements for items that were damaged beyond repair. The vibrant new details are showcased, including a refurbished belfry with recalibrated bells - looking and sounding like new.

9 p.m. July 12 on 6.1 &

6 p.m. July 17 on Emerge 6.3

With a career spanning nine decades, EGOT winner Mel Brooks is the master of parody and comedy. From Brooklyn, live TV (with Sid Caesar) and Broadway, to going all the way to Hollywood, Mel Brooks tells us with his unflinching Jewish humor about his prolific career and becoming a world-famous entertainer. His love for spoofing movies has inspired generations of filmmakers from Scary Movie to Austin Powers. This special features commentary from comedy partner Carl Reiner and legendary producer Norman Lear, with excerpts from Blazing Saddles, Young Frankenstein, Silent Movie, Spaceballs, High Anxiety, History Of The World Pt. 1, The Producers, Robin Hood: Men In Tights, and The 2000 Year Old Man.

Story of Tom Hanks: Hollywood's Mr. Nice Guy

9 p.m. July 19 on KMOS 6.1 & 6 p.m. July 31 on Emerge 6.3

Tom Hanks (born July 9, 1956) is the preeminent Hollywood star of our times. His movies have earned over $10 billion and won countless awards, and he is admired as an all-around nice guy. But what lies behind his extraordinary success? In this special you will find out what drove Tom to the top and what has kept him there -- in the words of those who know him best.

This is a guided tour of a cultural revolution that deeply impacted the music industry, through the career of a man who consistently caught the next wave before everyone else—if he didn't just create the wave himself.

From the '60s to the rise of hip-hop, Clive Davis discovered, mentored, or oversaw an incredible range of performers during his career including: Janis Joplin, Bruce Springsteen, Simon & Garfunkel, Santana, Miles Davis, Billy Joel, Barry Manilow, Patti Smith, The Grateful Dead, Kenny G, Aretha Franklin, Whitney Houston, Sean Combs, Alicia Keys. Many of them are featured, in both archival footage and contemporary interviews, to attest to Davis' singular talent and blessed life, as well as the work that went into one to create the other. In Aretha's words, Davis is "the greatest record man of all time," and this film is definitive, ceaselessly entertaining proof.

David M. Rubenstein – co-founder of The Carlyle Group, patriotic philanthropist, lifelong student of history, and the series’ host - explores American history through a close examination of iconic national symbols: indelible artifacts, places, and archetypes. Rubenstein is on location and in conversation with historical thinkers, community members, and subject matter experts. Together, they dive deeply into each symbol’s history and how its meaning has changed over time, using these symbols as a gateway to understanding America’s past and present.

The subjects of the series’ eight episodes are Fenway Park, the Hollywood Sign, the Gadsden Flag, the Cowboy, the Statue of Liberty, the American Bald Eagle, Stone Mountain, and the Golden Gate Bridge.

The series spotlights how these icons were created and how the perception of them formed and changed. These manifestations of our cultural history are sometimes highly contested as different groups invest them with distinct meanings. The symbols that endure speak to what a society values and how people see themselves - and they help us to contextualize a nation’s shared past in the present moment.

Framed through the world-famous Wimbledon tournament, revisit the golden age of tennis in this three-part fascinating series. Meet the heroes who changed the sport forever and drove significant change away from the tennis courts.

July 23 - In 1975, Billie Jean King and Arthur Ashe are fighting to become Wimbledon champions, and in their own ways, they are also battling social change for equality on a global level.

July 30 - Bjorn Borg and John McEnroe's showdowns in the Wimbledon finals in 1980 and 1981 are among the most memorable matches in the sport. They bring glamour and celebrity to what many consider the fiercest rivalry in men's tennis history.

August 6 - In 1990, Martina Navratilova dominates Wimbledon, yet struggles to be as adored as her rival, Chris Evert. Explore their rivalry and Navratilova's search for acceptance as she aspires to be the greatest player to ever grace Centre Court.
